Luxury Development

February 9, 2025

As a developer, designer, and Realtor of luxury home properties in Naples, Florida, I rely heavily on my marketing materials, and renderings are a crucial piece of telling a compelling story. My husband and I have been working with Daniel Kazakov and the Ravelin 3D team for many years now, and he is our first and only choice because we completely trust him to make our projects come to life well before they are completed. Daniel is not only extremely talented, but also responsive and professional. Our renderings are always incredibly realistic, and have people asking at times if it's a photograph or a rendering.

For our latest project, we even tasked him with a super exciting 3-D rendered fly through video after completing eight renderings of the project. He basically brought those renderings to life with birds flying, doors sliding open, and people talking and moving around the property. As always, we are so thrilled with the results and are happy to wholeheartedly recommend his firm to any colleagues looking to elevate their branding.

Five out of five stars for Ravelin 3D from R.O.I. Naples!! Feel free to reach out to me directly, if you need any further elaboration.

Sincerely,
Linda Donnelly
